We would like to alert you to an opportunity to engage in the regional virtual workshops on gender integration in climate actions.

Organizations active at international, regional, national, sub-national and communal level are invited to express interest in participating in a virtual market place by COB 17 July.

What we are planning – Virtual Market Place

In addition to the 4-hour virtual workshops we are exploring the possibility of organizing regional virtual market places/fairs where organizations can introduce themselves and the relevant work they do on gender and climate change. Slots would be limited and will be allotted according to relevance. Please note that the realization of the virtual market places can not be guaranteed at this point.

In addition to the virtual market place we are going to collate information on organizations and their work in an overview document that is going to be publicly shared. Inclusion in the document is contingent on only relevance. It is not contingent on realization of or participation in the virtual market place.

What we need from you

Please share with us a brief description (max. 300 words) and 3-minute video introducing your organization and the work done on gender and climate change. We also ask you to clearly identify the countries and type of work you engage in, using the specified categories. For more detailed information, kindly check the "How to get involved" section on the workshops' webpage.

_____

UN Climate Change Secretariat Platz der Vereinten Nationen 1 53113 Bonn, Germany

United Nations Climate Change Secretariat

Gender Team Subscribe to our newsletter